Auberie is an Associate in the Private Client Services Group, specializing in cross-border U.S. tax planning and strategies for clients in the U.S. and abroad.

Auberie's practice focuses on high-net-worth individuals and closely-held businesses with various U.S. international tax issues from inbound and outbound transactions and operations. She has experience developing tax planning strategies to achieve favorable tax positions based under income tax treaties between the U.S. and other countries. She assists clients with pre-immigration planning, foreign investments in the U.S., U.S. residency planning and management, and expatriation planning. Auberie also participates in international merger and acquisition projects, which includes tax structuring and due diligence on acquisitions, dispositions and organizational restructuring.

Prior to joining Greenberg Glusker, Auberie was an International Tax Senior Manager at an accounting, tax and advisory firm.
