Gabriella Stevens is an Associate in the Employment Group.

Gabriella's practice focuses on representing employers in all aspects of employment litigation including discrimination, harassment, wrongful termination, and wage and hour disputes. Gabriella is known for her big-picture approach; making sure that strategies not only meet short-term needs but also effectuate longer term goals. Her primary motivation is enabling individuals and business owners to thrive by reducing concerns over litigation.

While attending Loyola Law School, Gabriella was a member of Loyola's Vis International Commercial Arbitration team, where she refined her skills in legal research, analysis, and oral advocacy.

In her free time, Gabriella enjoys hiking, baking, traveling, and spending time with her rescue terrier-mix, Peanut.
